

"Theorizing that one could time travel within his own lifetime, Dr. Sam Beckett stepped into the Quantum Leap accelerator and Vanished...He woke to find himself trapped in the past, facing mirror images that were not his own and driven by an unknown force to change history for the better. His only guide on this journey is AI, an observer from his own time, who appears in the form of a hologram that only Sam can see and hear. And so Dr. Beckett finds himself leaping from life to life, striving to put right what once went wrong and hoping each time that his next leap will be the leap home."

In these pages you will discover:

- How Don Bellisario got the idea for the show and pitched it to NBC
- What Scott Bakula and Dean Cain thought about the series and why they consider it to be one of the best and most cherished experiences of their lives.
- About the incredible fans, who never gave up hope and sent over 50,000 letters and calla lilies to then NBC President Warren Littlefield to put the show back to Wednesday nights.
- Why episodes like The Color of Truth, Black On White On Fire and Running For Honor had advertisers pulling out and NBC ready to pull the plug.
- How Quantum Leap ended, a review of all 5 seasons and what has been happening since.
